Intussusception

RULING ON ENTITLEMENT¹

Vowell, Special Master:

On July 24, 2014, June Reed filed a petition for compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, 42 U.S.C. §300aa-10, *et seq.*² [the “Vaccine Act” or “Program”] on behalf of her minor daughter, M.C. The petition alleges that as a result of the administration of a rotavirus vaccination on December 3, 2013, M.C. suffered an intussusception which required surgical intervention. Petition at pp. 1-2.

On October 28, 2014, respondent filed her Rule 4(c) Report [“Respondent’s Report”], in which she concedes that petitioner is entitled to compensation in this case. Respondent’s Report at p. 4. Specifically, respondent submits that “the temporal association between the administration of M.C.’s December 3, 2013, rotavirus vaccine and the onset of her intussusception is medically appropriate, and there is no other identifiable alternate cause for M.C.’s onset of intussusception. Thus, causation-in-fact is supported by the record and petitioner has satisfied the legal prerequisites for compensation under the Vaccine Act.” Id. at p. 3

² National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, Pub. L. No. 99-660, 100 Stat. 3755. Hereinafter, for ease of citation, all “§” references to the Vaccine Act will be to the pertinent subparagraph of 42 U.S.C. § 300aa (2006).

In view of respondent’s concession and the evidence before me, I find that petitioner is entitled to compensation.
